Lord, you are an all-knowing God who does not lose sight of us. We are seen by El Roi, The God who sees. We are known by El Deah, the God of Knowledge. We are sought after by our Abba Father.

We call upon your Name and ask that the lost would find their way home. We pray the Holy Spirit touches them with a way out. If they are being held against their will, we pray the abductors will release them unharmed. We pray for divine intervention.

Wherever the lost are, cover them in the precious blood of Jesus. Please give them the grace to survive whatever they are currently facing. Let your angels surround them.

Lord, we pray you would give strength to the families as they wait for a safe return. Give the families the peace that passes all understanding. Give them hope in the waiting, so they continue believing their loved ones are safe and will come home.

We ask Lord that you would hasten the work of law enforcement. Please bless the efforts of community workers to find the lost. God, there are so many broken systems in place which need to be brought to standards of righteousness and justice, we ask for wisdom in how we can help. May no political agenda override the focus of what is most important, the missing.

Praise Jehovah-Jireh, the Lord, our provider. Continue to soften our hearts to the needs of the missing. Urge us in prayer to be agents of change in your miracle-working world.

In Jesus' name. Amen.
